INTRODUCING NORTH CENTRAL COLLEGE

Each year we spend at North Central opens and closes with an observable flurry. The physical structure of the college has remained the same. Last September nine hundred students assailed the various dormitories, academic buildings, and the union. After a summer of dormancy, these buildings gasped from the fresh air and life that the student body and faculty brought to their halls. The summer rest again approaches; the buildings stand virtually unmarked by the activity.

This is not the case of the students that go home to rest. Simply by existing in the North Central community for the period of time that is now coming rapidly to a close, those students are all marked. The year has been one of growth and learning for each of the students, one of rich experience and rewards.

Some of our numbers will not return to these familiar halls and faces. To these graduating seniors the best of wishes are extended. To all, it is the hope that this book will be a satisfactory remembrance of time well spent in the community.

Each aspect of college life has its symbolic representation. The lantern from Old Main is a tribute to the faculty and the enlightenment that they give to the students in their pursuit of knowledge. The hourglass symbolizes campus life, the shifting sands of changing attitude and growth. The strings of the lute like our many organizations, separately vibrating, but uniting to produce harmony. The window of Merner Fieldhouse serves as an entrance to a different aspect of education, a world of physical growth which should be considered of equal importance with academic growth. The torch representative of the underclassmen, a hope for the future which will grow into the lamp of knowledge the Seniors have attained.

IN MEMORIAM

REUBEN C. SCHELLHASE, DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

June 29, 1913—December 19, 1964

The teacher who walks in the shadow of the temple, among his followers, gives not of his wisdom but rather of his faith and lovingness.

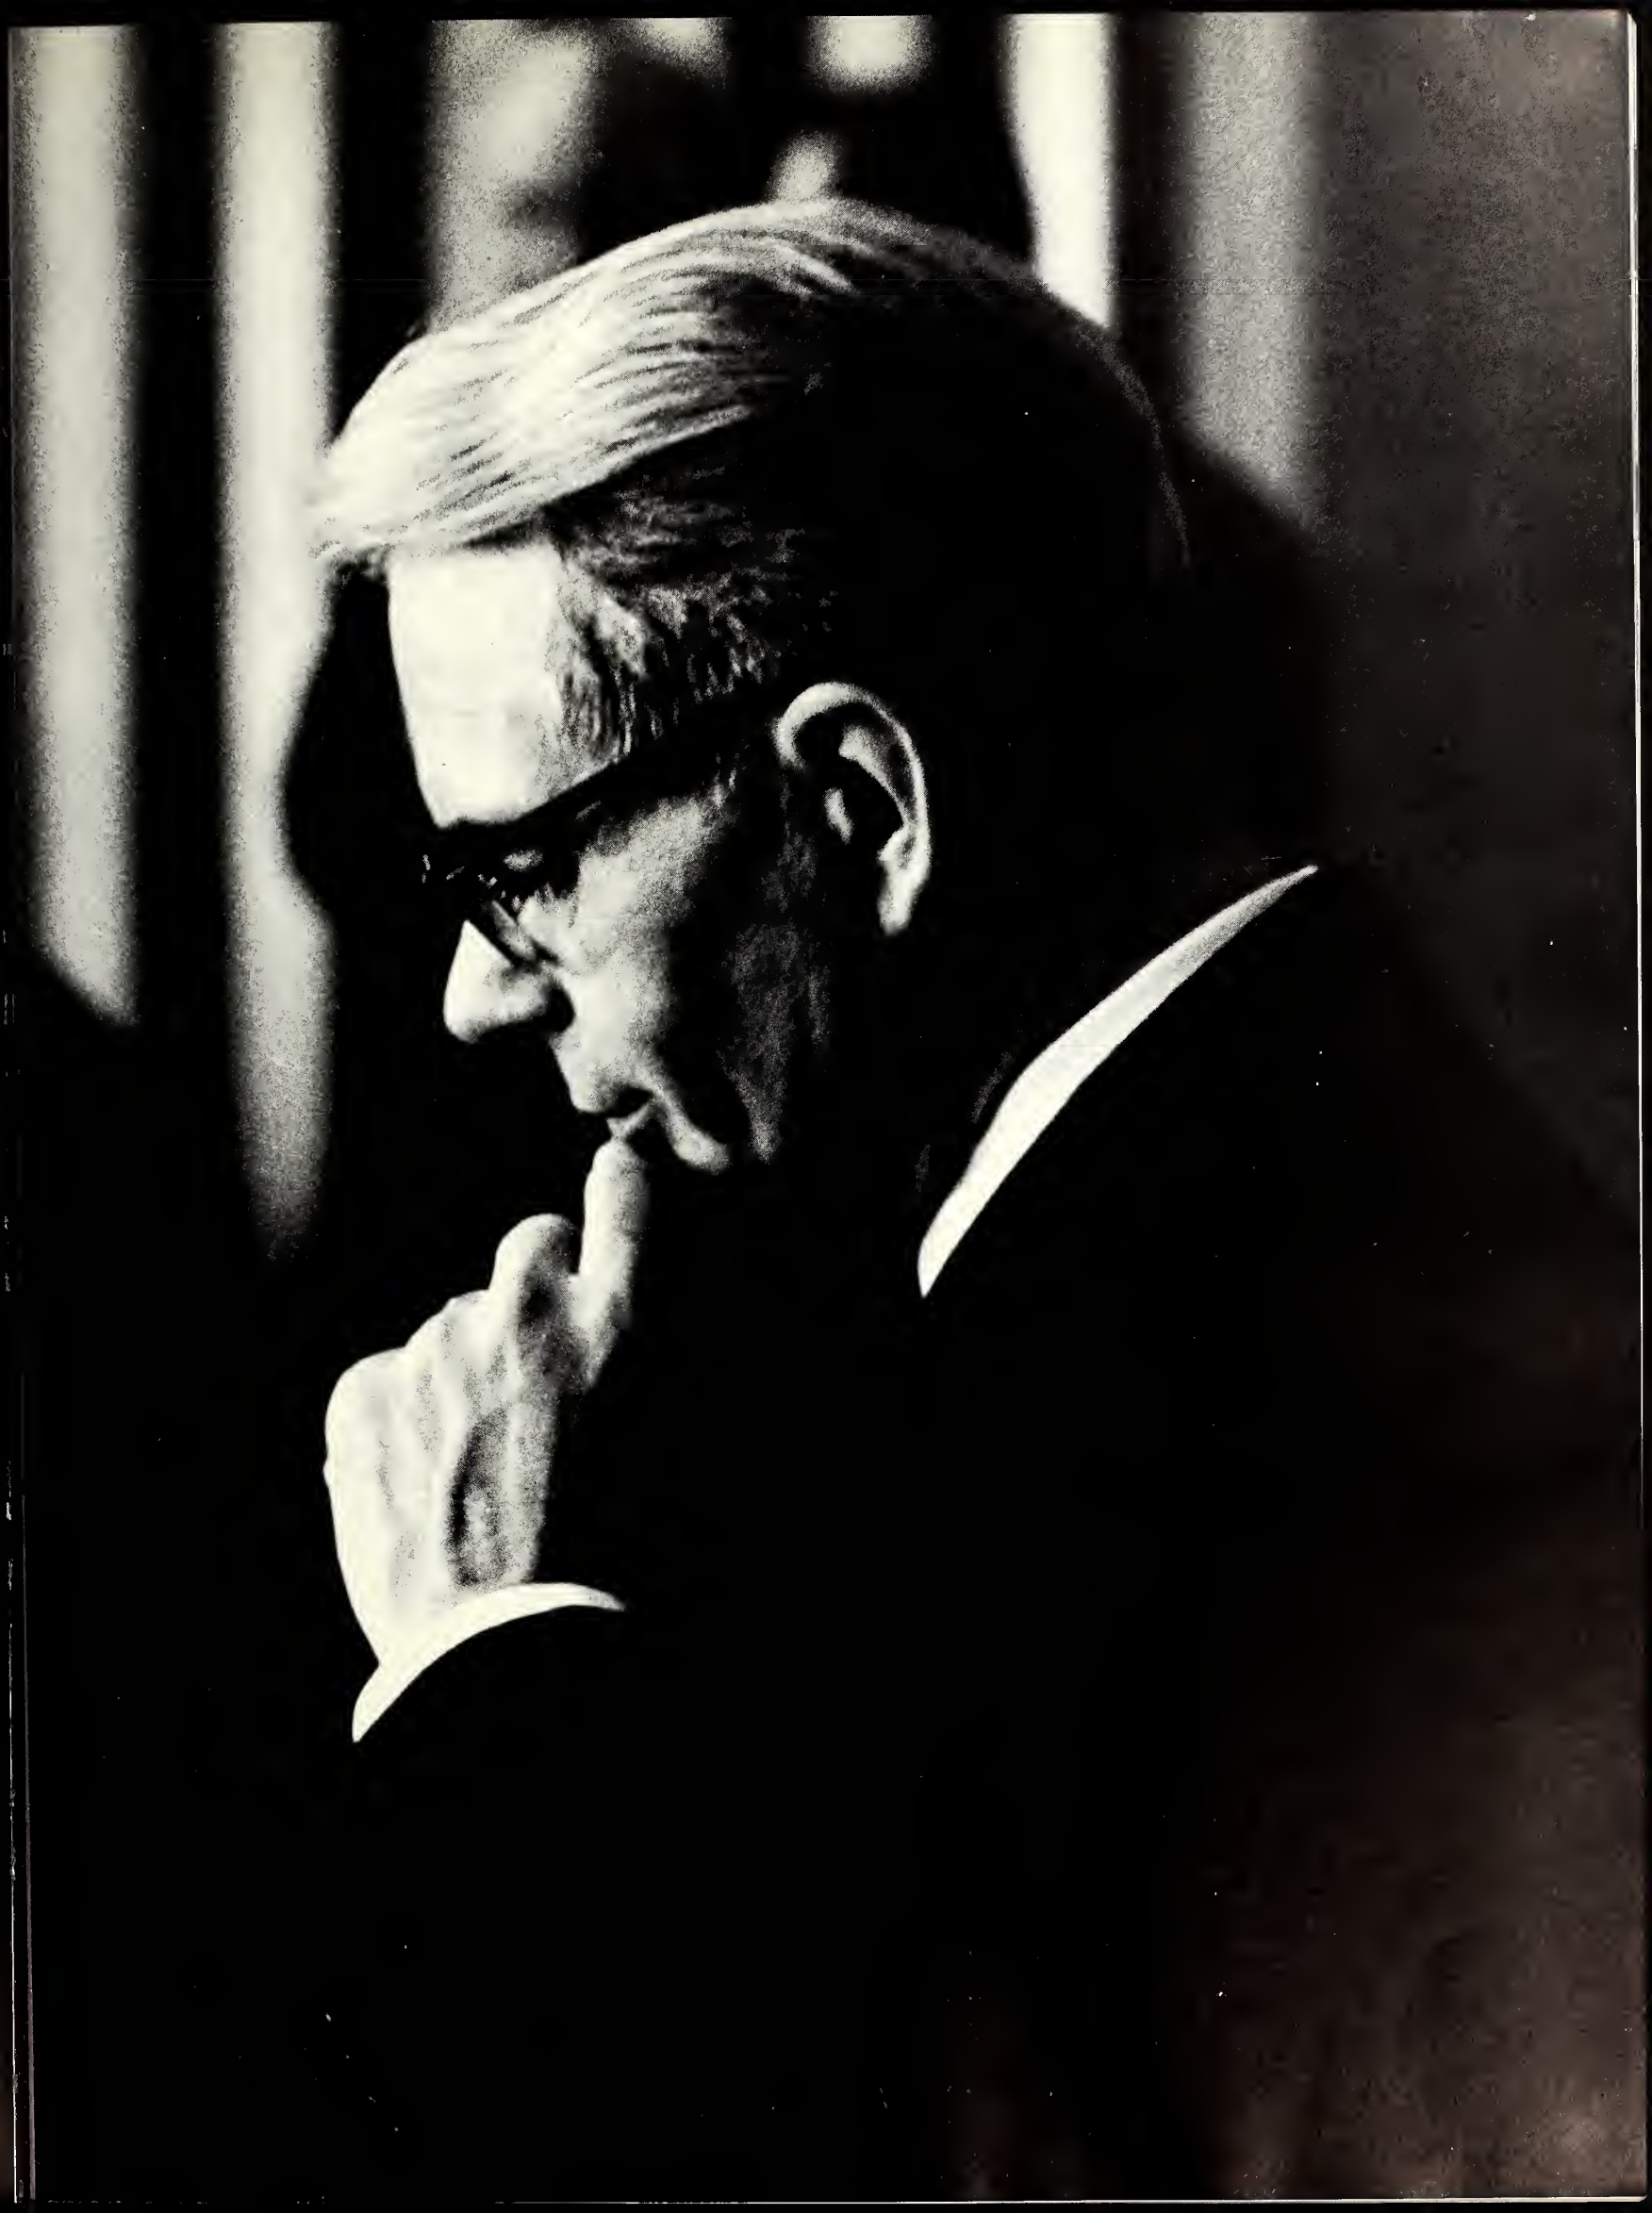

If he is indeed wise he does not bid you enter the house of his wisdom, but rather leads you to the threshold of your own mind.

The astronomer may speak to you of his understanding of space, but he cannot give you his understanding.

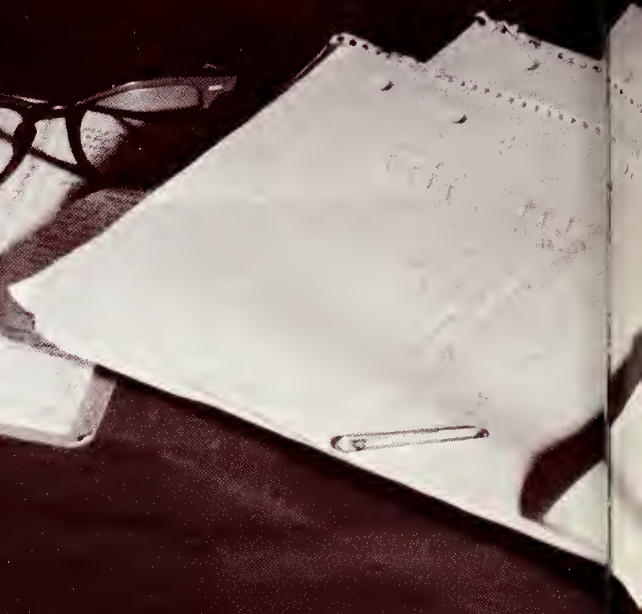

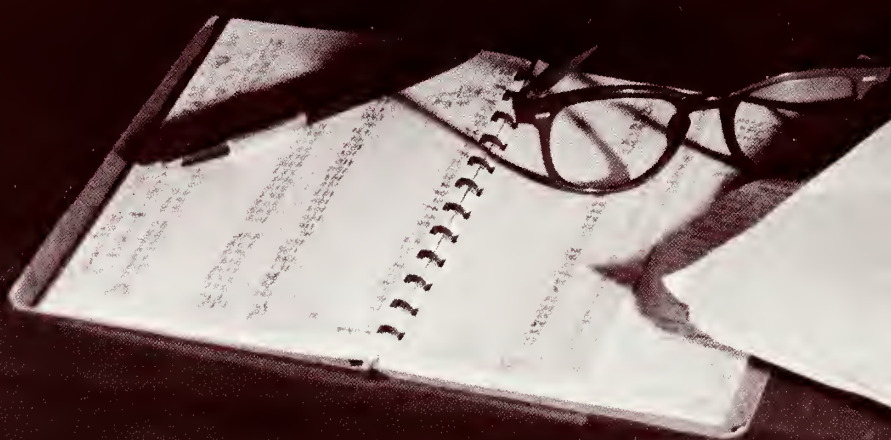

For the vision of one man lends not its wings to another man.

And even as each one of you stands alone in God's knowledge, so must each one of you be alone in his knowledge of God and his understanding of the earth.

STUDENT CONFERENCE RETREATS

Some people don't enjoy retreats as much as others!!

There are fun and activities for all.

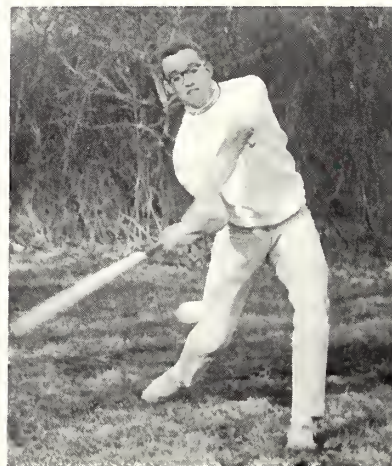

A retreat is a good place to get away from the sound and fury of campus life.

Just relaxation.

The group discussions are a central part of the weekend.

The purposes of Student Conference Retreats are to provide for good fellowship, fun and pertinent discussions on issues of concern to life and purposeful living. The Student Conference Committee, headed by Don Pletcher and advised by George, attempts to be aware of student attitudes and concerns so as to make the discussion of interest to the entire student body. Themes of retreats this year have been: Affluence and You, Life is Hell?, and Prejudice.

John Griffin, author of Black Like Me, engages in dialogue with students and faculty alike following his presentation. Mr. Griffin's address was part of the In-Depth Series and he related his experiences as a Negro in the South to an attentive audience.

The Memorial service was a fitting tribute to a man of Dr. Schellhase's esteem.

CHAPEL DIALOGUE

The Chapel-Convocation Series is an extremely valuable part of the total experience that each student receives at North Central. As stated on the front of the semester chapel program, "Its purpose is not to indoctrinate, but to incite meaningful search not to be dogmatic but to be open; not to be a place of withdrawal but an experience of growth." The Chapel Series Committee has done an excellent job in their rewarding endeavors. The members of that committee are Diane Booker, Mrs. Ann Colley, Paul Freedlund, Ken Kotiza, Gary Ziegler, Jane Smith, Mrs. Berry, Mr. Farndell, Dr. Shoemaker, Mr. Sutton, Dr. Thurston, Dr. Wolf and George.

There is much to be learned from the trips to the Union after Chapel. Over coffee and across tables, the program of that morning is considered and reconsidered.

Some speakers are controversial and cause us to think.

IDC is working to develop a well-rounded program of social, service and scholastic activities. Inter-Dorm Council is an action body. It does not attempt to make policy or to regulate anything except its own program. Some of its yearly activities include all-school picnics, clean-up days, dances, gourmet tours, service projects, an academic award program and an all-night party.

This year the club sponsored the showing of slides of other countries, and was in charge of a chapel program featuring songs, dances and slides of Germany, Japan and Sierra Leone.

COMMUTERS CLUB

The Commuters Club was reorganized this year by a group of freshmen. The club is designed to give the commuter population of North Central College representation on Student Council, because it is felt that the men and women representatives at large cannot function enough in representing adequately commuters due to the fact that they are resident students. The president of the club serves as the commuter's representative to Student Council.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The primary purpose of the Young Republicans is to educate all college students in the principles of government, the role of politics in government, and the differences between the two major political parties. The Young Republicans also seeks to encourage responsible voting and to further the growth and influence of the Republican Party. This year the YR's were active in the state and national elections. In addition to their regular meetings, the members also attended the annual State and Midwest conventions.

The board is to advise the publications in such a way to insure the freedom and the right of expression of the students.

SEAGER HALL

Seager Hall's dorm council was reconstructed this year in such a way that the council is now concerned exclusively with making dorm life more enjoyable. The functions of the council in accordance with rules and regulations has been kept at a minimum because it was felt by the council members that there are already enough rules governing the student's life and that college men should have enough maturity to conduct themselves in the manner proposed by the college without being coerced into desired behavior. Particular attention has been paid this year to facilitating repairs needed in the dorm. It is hoped that this form of loosely structured council will be maintained in the future.

DORM GOVERNMENT

The purpose of Kroehler North's dorm council, led by its officers is that as a self-governing body representative of all the girls in the dorm, it is their stated purpose to encourage expressions of student opinion on any subject involving dormitory life, to regulate and maintain all rules governing dormitory life, and to cooperate with faculty and Student Council in maintaining a high standard of conduct expected of the dormitory. The council sponsors an annual Open House at Homecoming and Christmas; seasonal dorm parties; dorm devotions; and dorm elections.

STUDENT DEVELOPMENT

The members of the Student Development Committee are North Central's diplomats. The best "salesmen" a college has are its students. Only they can give a prospective student the slant on college life as seen by a student engaged in academic, social, and other activities on our campus. SDC works with Publicity, Alumni Relations, and Administration offices to help NCC secure outstanding applicants.

Ken exhibits some of the enthusiasm that he puts into his job.

Carol Leigh, Secretary; and Sue Tenny, Account Executive; check the Agency's files for some needed information.

Hans Mellin and Eric Haerting spend considerable amounts of time servicing the many accounts that the Agency advertises for.

A real "cut-up", Dick Mills, Chronicle Editor, appears to be considering a new shape for the college newspaper. In spite of Dick's "relaxing recreation", he manages to get the paper out on time every Friday. Dick's controversial editorials have attracted quite a bit of attention and discussion—demonstrating his amazing ability for profound and provocative thinking.

An up and coming photographer, Stu Allen does a fine job of supplying the newspaper with an ample supply of photos. Stu and his camera are becoming a familiar and constant sight on the North Central campus.

Tom Eimermann and Craig Evans, the Chronicle's sport editors, especially enjoyed preparing the sports page after the Wheaton game. Tom uses his column "From the Stands" to praise or criticize the athletic teams, coaches and fans depending upon what they deserve at the time.

Chronicle

"What in the . . .?" Terry Schenk's surprise at the remains of the editor's cut-ups indicates that type of thing is not common in the Chronicle office. Terry is an able and hard worker on the Chronicle staff. It is practically impossible to walk by the Chronicle office and not find her in there. These practices won her the "Staff Member of the Year" award in 1964.

The People a newspaper cannot survive without are reporters and typists. The above staff members do their best to see to it that the NCC students get an interesting and informative paper. They are from left to right. ROW ONE: Bill Ross; Susy Heinhorst; Jerry Hatten. ROW TWO: Kermit Kolstad; Eric Haerting; Diane Brause; Ron Parsons; Doreen Dunham.

Don Horn, this year's "Man Behind the Camera" (or should we say cynic?) was our Spectrum wit in addition to photographing all athletic, social and campus events.

SPECTRUM

SPECTACULARS

Besieged by senior questionnaires, Donna Emberson attempts to make order out of chaos. In spite of all this confusion, she has not lost her usual ability to smile.

Inspecting one of the many football shots, Sports Editors Steve Clark and Eric Avery beam their approval of an exceptionally good photo.

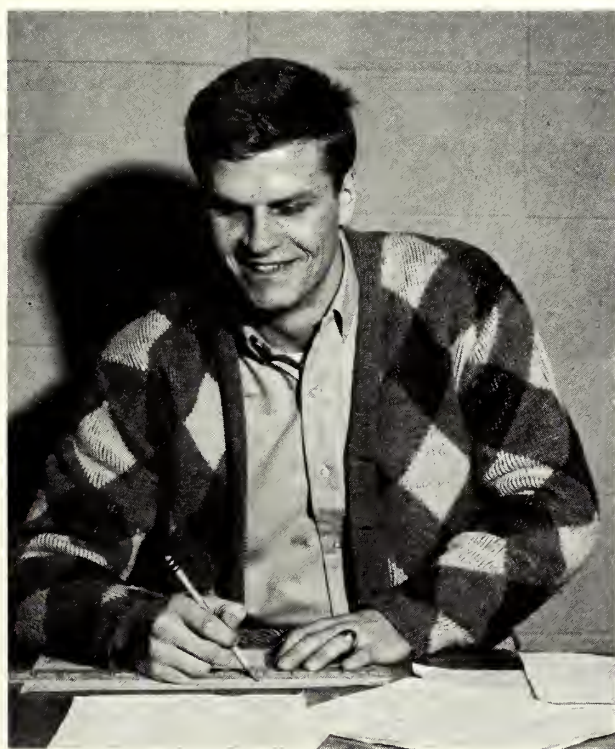

Jean Krell, Publisher, provided this year's Spectrum staff with her efficient production abilities, quiet sarcasm, and optimistic outlook. We give our thanks to the "Pillar of Strength" of the 1965 Spectrum.

Mr. Dan O'Neill bones up on his newly appointed position as Spectrum advisor.

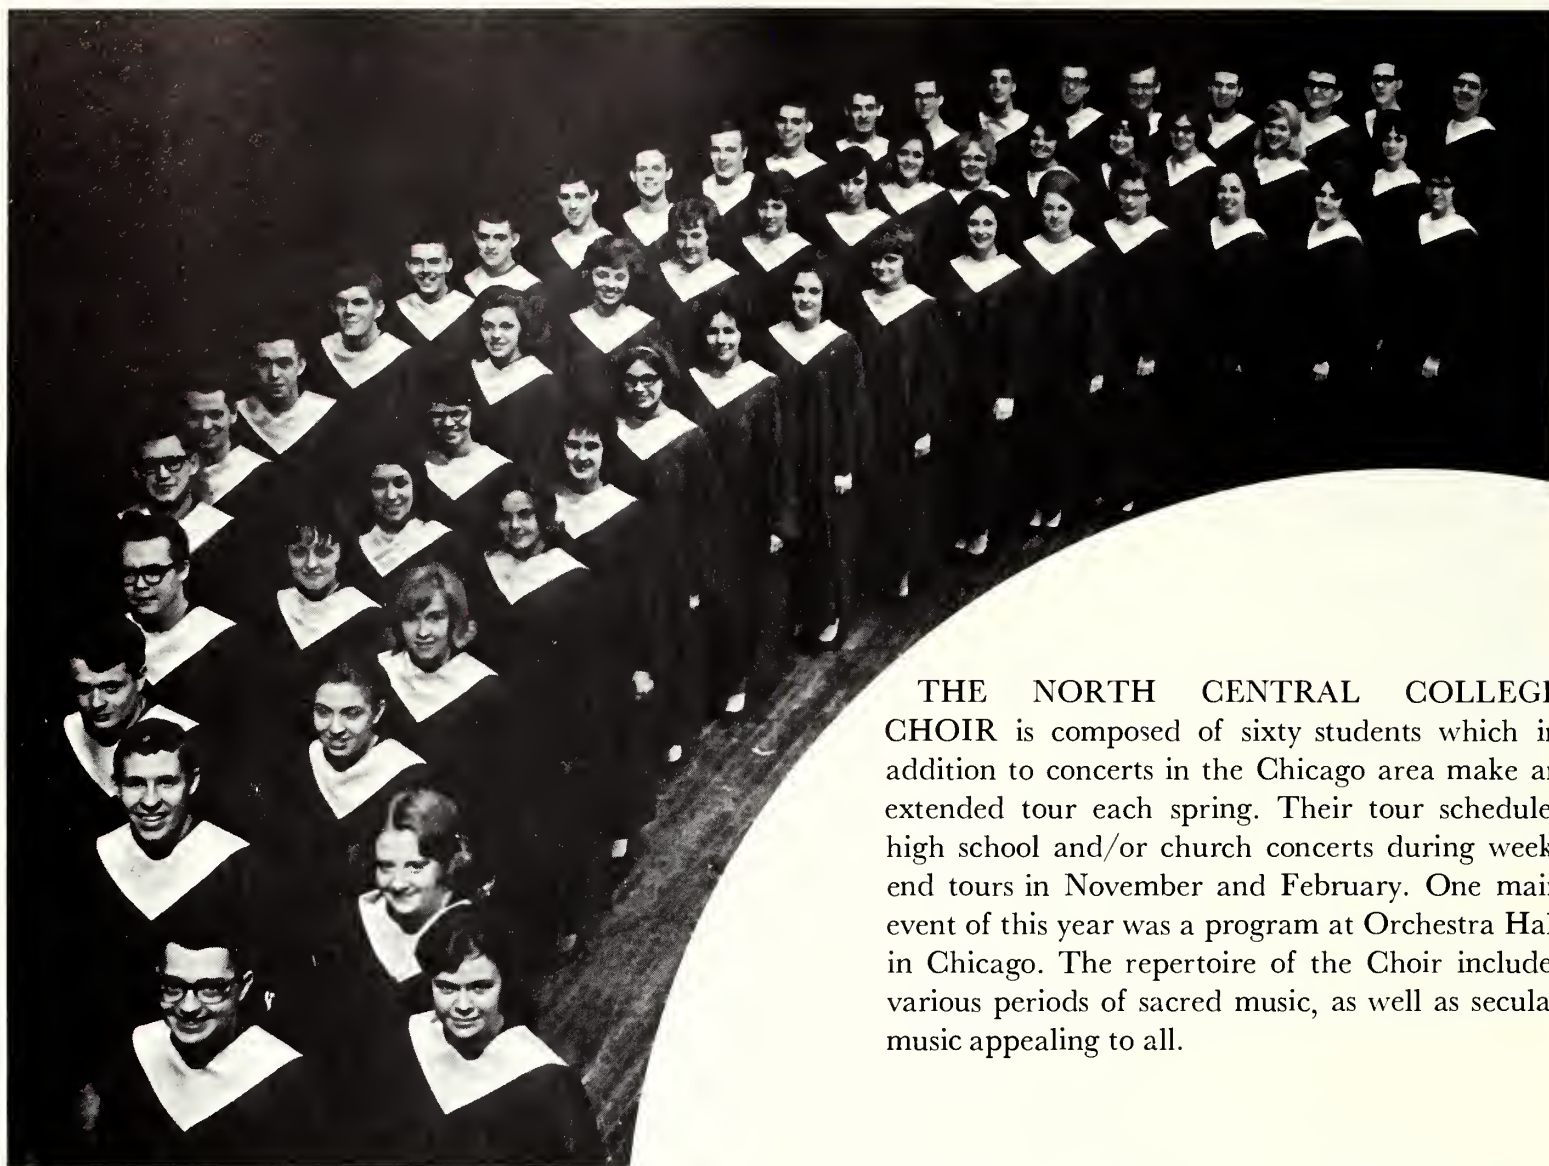

The main "Pillar" of the 1965 Spectrum was Janice Paver. As Editor-in-Chief she upheld her responsibilities of co-ordinating and creating the yearbook with imagination and ambition. Her new ideas and originality have brought a refreshing look to this year's annual.

The "Organization Man", Lance Thompson, participating in a variety of campus activities, was perhaps the most obvious prospect for Organization Editor.

CONCERT CHOIR

THE NORTH CENTRAL COLLEGE CHOIR is composed of sixty students which in addition to concerts in the Chicago area make an extended tour each spring. Their tour schedules high school and/or church concerts during week-end tours in November and February. One main event of this year was a program at Orchestra Hall in Chicago. The repertoire of the Choir includes various periods of sacred music, as well as secular music appealing to all.

MADRIGAL SINGERS

Twelve singers in 16th-century costumes, sitting together and singing fine choral music in intimate style characterize the well-known group of MADRIGAL SINGERS on the Pfeiffer Hall stage, or in many churches and auditoriums where they have appeared since their formation three years ago. The versatility is displayed as they sing in four languages.

NORTH CENTRAL COLLEGE CONCERT BAND

Under its new conductor, Mr. Clarence Shoemaker, the CONCERT BAND has presented several fine concerts on our campus this year. Mr. Shoemaker, well-known in music education circles as a result of his many fine years of band work at the Downers Grove, Illinois high school, has proven himself to be a most valuable addition to our campus. We look forward to even greater heights of success for this fine organization in the years ahead.

The ORATORIO CHORUS, a college-community endeavor proposes to study and perform great choral works written for mixed chorus. Two public performances this year included the Messiah in December and Mozart's 7th Mass as well as Ariel by Robert Starer.

Senior, Elease Harris, was this year's squad captain.

Carol Campenella and Ruth DeVeney.

At the close of the football season, girls aspiring to become cheerleaders begin a training program of six weeks duration. At the end of the six weeks, try-outs are held. The girls are judged by faculty members and captains of the various athletic teams on cheering ability, enthusiasm, audience contact, neatness, voice, and coordination. These girls then compose the squad that will cheer during the basketball season and football season the following fall.

Mrs. Barbara Roby is the cheerleaders' sponsor. This is only one of her duties. She also offers advice at the practice sessions and serves as a consultant when problems arise.

THE SEASON IN REVIEW

The NCC Cardinals and the new coaches Ralph McAlister, Gil Krueger, Frank Trossen, and Eural McLaughlin, started the 1964 season with a win over Olivet, a newcomer to the opponent list. An inspired home crowd came to support the team in a seasonal downpour and gave the team the type of support which was to follow them throughout the season.

On a muddy home field, Augustana gave the Cards their first defeat. Carthage made defeat number two in the third game of the season. The game was played on Carthage's new Lake Michigan campus. A huge, partisan, homecoming crowd roared their support as the Big Blue from Millikin went down in defeat in one of the hottest games of the season. Maintaining their momentum, the Cardinals defeated the North Park Vikings at their homecoming game. The following week, however, the Cards were defeated by Carrol before Carrol's homecoming fans. Back on their home field, the Cardinals tied with the Illinois Wesleyan team which was ranked nationally as number ten.

The real feather in the NCC gridiron cap came when the Cards won the hard fought battle and BEAT WHEATON. The Wheaton Crusaders lost the Brass Bell only once in the last 17 years by a score of 7 to 6. This year, the Cardinals whipped them 13 to 0 before a large group of fans who braved the 5° weather and 30mph gusts to see the Cards complete their first winning season in the last 3 years.

CROWN FOR CROSS COUNTRY

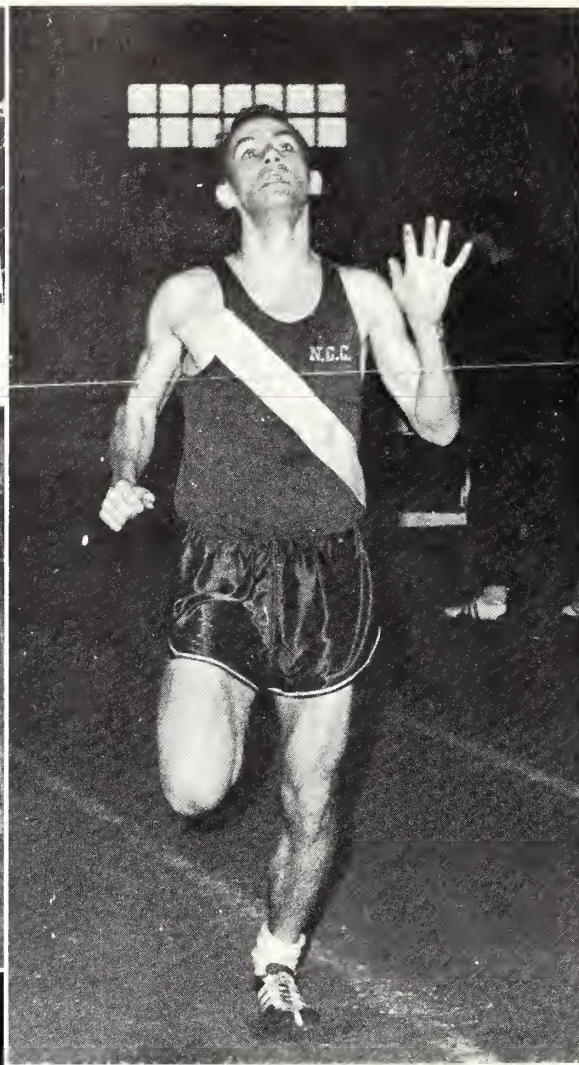

quarers off against Millikin in a dual meet.

The Cardinal Cross Country team got off to a slow start this year, but finished at a whirlwind pace to gain the CCI crown for the third straight year. Early injuries and untimely illnesses held the team from jelling until late in the season. Then, a week after they were conference champs, they earned themselves 13th place in NCAA Small College competition.

Senior, Ron Trapp, Captain of the team, established 7 course records at home and around the conference. He also holds school records at 2 miles, 3 miles, 3 1/2 miles, 4 miles, and 10,000 meters. He distinguished himself further by successfully defending his individual conference champion title; by winning all but one of his races in dual competition; by placing 7th in the National Small College meet and 80th in the NCAA Large College division. In the conference meet, Merrill Litchfield earned himself 4th place and 9th place respectively. Dave Peterson and Bill Edson rounded out the Cardinal attack and became lettermen.

Coach, Lester Belding concluded the successful season with a delicious home-cooked steak dinner for the team.

The 1964-65 NCC basketball season was highlighted by trips south and west. Coach W. E. (Bud) Burger's hoopsters traveled south to Florida during the interim period to face Florida Presbyterian and Stetson. Although they lost both games, the NCC cagers put forth a great battle against Presbyterian before falling by two points in overtime. Out west, Burger's quint surprised everyone as they upset a highly regarded Nebraska Wesleyan team, 66—56. It was another tough fight against Iowa Central as North Central went down in defeat by three points.

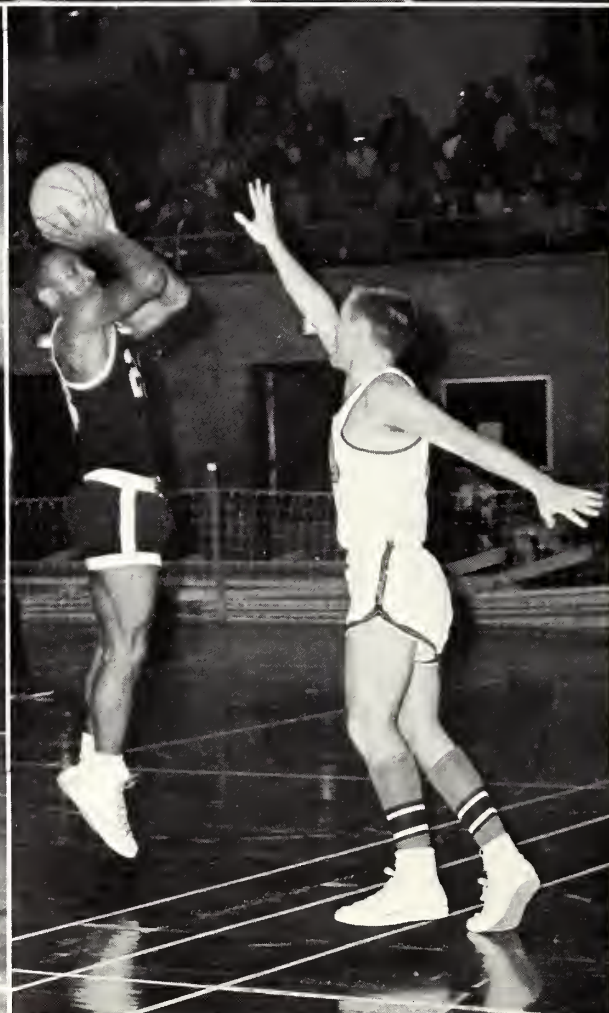

The CCI conference race was exciting for the Cards as they rang up victories against Augustana, Carroll and Carthage. The Burgermen defeated Augie twice, the first time on the Vikings' home court and the second at North Central where they cashed in on a victory in the final minute of the game.

Pacing the Cards throughout the year was 6'5" center Dick Hobbs who played his first season at North Central. He received considerable assistance from co-captains Don Gebbie and Bill Petersen, seniors who finished their fourth year of basketball playing at North Central. Senior Al Hoffert and junior Tom Gibbs also contributed greatly to the Cardinal effort.

The future was brightened by the outstanding play of freshman Bill Edson, a little guard who seldom missed when he shot. Burger looks to a better season next year as Hobbs, Gibbs and Edson will return along with two other promising candidates, Rodney Mack and Jim Holland.

Bill Edson and Tom Gibbs show front court ability.

FOR CARDINAL MATMEN

Wrestling coach, John Novak, critically observes a Cardinal performance.

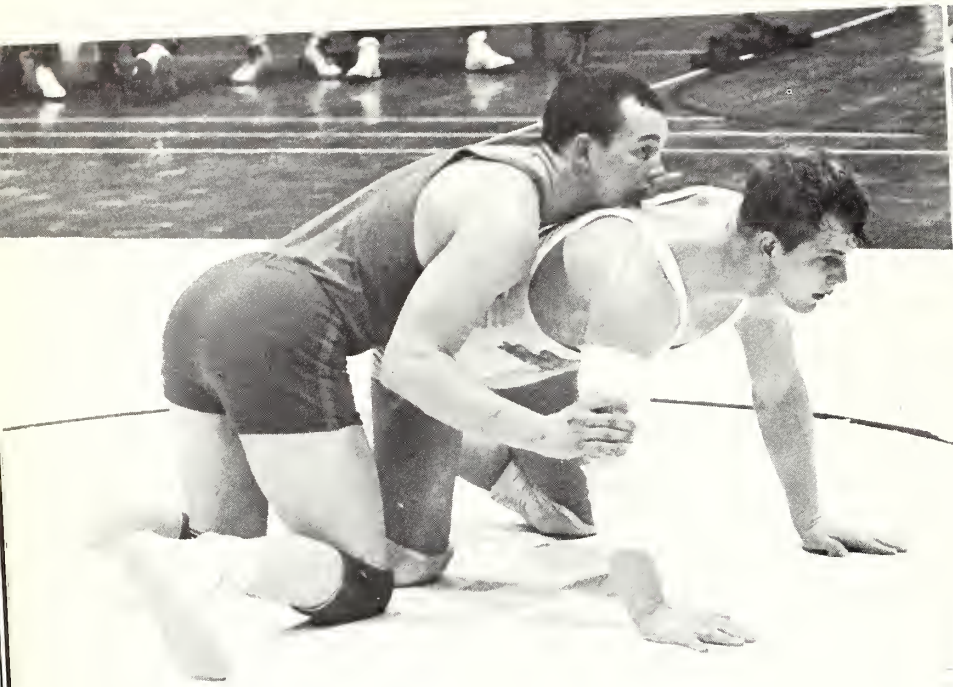

John Luna squares off against an Illinois Wesleyan foe.

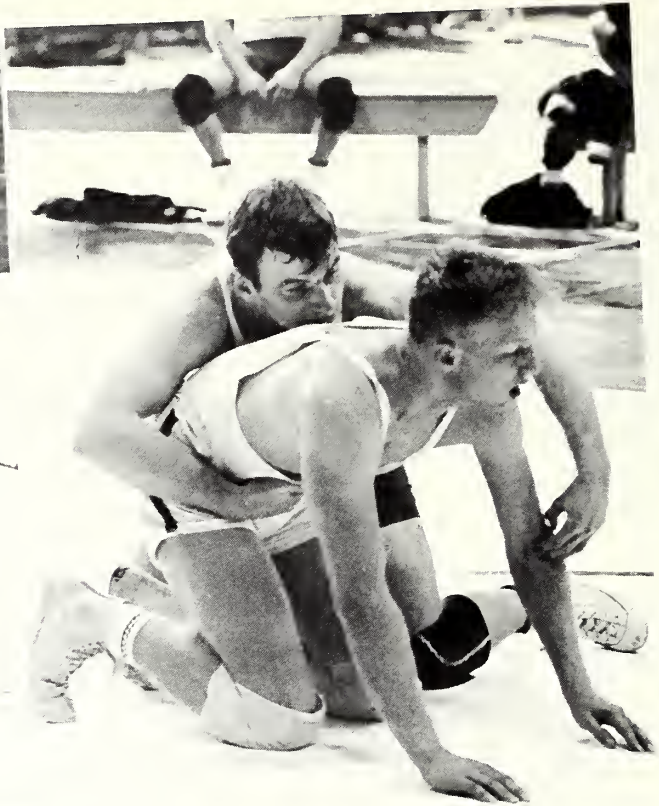

Co-Captain, Don Moravec, pins his Wesleyan opponent in record time.

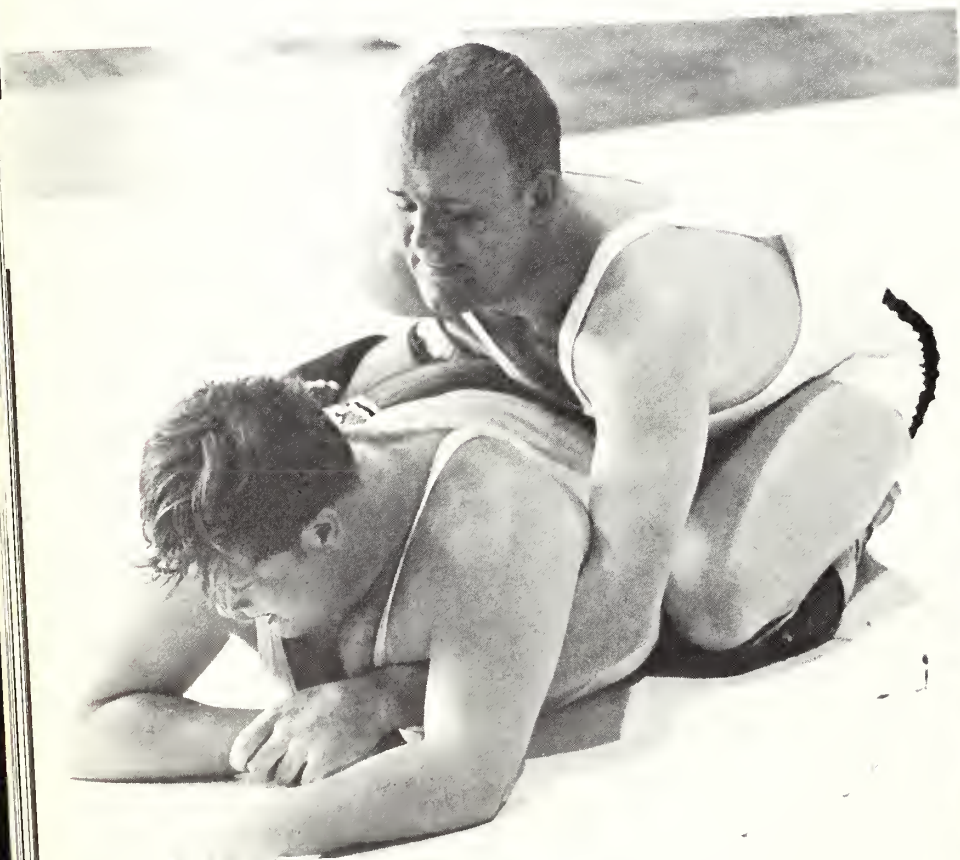

NORTH CENTRAL MATMEN

Don Moravec wrestles a National Champion from Wheaton.

Don Dexheimer, wrestling at 147, begins 2nd period with Lake Forest foe.

Co-captain Eric Avery, one of the team's more consistent winners, shows the ability that has gained him that distinction.

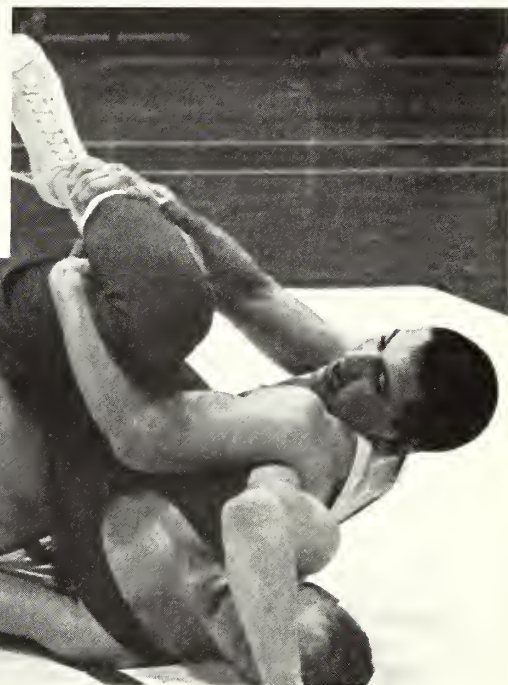

Loren Kittle adds a pin to his string of victories.

GAIN MOMENTUM IN '64-'65 SEASON

Bill Robinson crosses body to pin his Wheaton opponent.

Pat Dexheimer pins Lake Forest grappler.

Although the dual meet record for this year's wrestling team was not impressive, the team boasted several excellent individual performers. The handicap that the team was forced to work under was the inability to fill all weight classes. Consequently, as many as fifteen points were forfeited per meet.

Among the more distinctive dual meet record setters were Don Moravec with a 10 to 1 record; Loren Kittle with 8 to 1; Eric Avery with 6 to 1; Bill Robinson with 5 to 1; and Pat Dexheimer with 5 to 2.

Coach John Novak stated that the addition of several new members to fill crucial weight classes, with ability comparable to that of this year's outstanding individuals, would make next year's team the best in the conference.

School by the junior year seems to be just an amalgamation of facts and ideas—it's amo, amas, amat, amamus, amatis, amant—it's Aristotle's Golden Mean (of course Aris forgot to tell us how to get it). Your year starts with the Homecoming and ends with the Prom.

School means a lot of things to different people—it's five minutes to write a term paper and wee-mornin' gab sessions—it's dodging teachers, cutting classes, and all night dances in the Union—

School is borrowing a dime to call home collect for money—it's going to the library, union, chapel, classes and friendly get-togethers, but not necessarily in that order—

School is hectic—it's not having enough time to do the things we want to do, should do, or have to do—

Why do we bother, you ask? So we can become teachers and start the whole cycle over again!

Presenting the Class of 1967. Unique? You bet! A powerhouse of enthusiasm and energy made up of hard-workers and sound realistic thinkers who neither lack the ability nor the spirit that it takes to get the job done. Big? not in numbers, but big in pride. Ask one, he will tell that he is proud of '67, proud of the unity for which the class will always be remembered. A class that is meeting the challenge of today and the destiny of tomorrow.

Like a forest made up of stalwart trees which grow and mature together, the members of this class are meeting their purpose and that is to know themselves through self-discovery, thought, and hard study. The atmosphere and environment must be right for trees to grow and the friendliness and concern of the students of this class allows one to sink his roots and find strength and inspiration from those around him. New members are welcome and helped to meet their needs just like in a forest where a seedling grows true next to a mighty redwood. But these trees will soon be cut and the forest will just be a memory. Graduation soon will send each on their way, but the memory of their class will remain as their foundation to destiny. There is power and potential in this forest, a class with members who will meet the needs of tomorrow, today. Pause now as you leave this forest and read the sign which says,

"Do not cut until 1967."

On a hot sunny September afternoon two hundred and fifty scared freshmen arrived on campus. That night we received our beautiful (?) beanies and bows, and we were told about some of the chores expected from us during the next two weeks.—After a hectic day called registration when line seemed to be the word of the day, upperclassmen began to arrive and arrive and arrive. Quickly classes began and routines were established.—After being washed by water balloons, painted as if we were clowns, and stuffed as if we were chickens, we proudly marched up and down the streets of Naperville. The parade ended at the fieldhouse where the traditional decaping ceremony took place and where we officially became members of the NCC family.—As the year progressed we elected our officers, ratified our constitution, picked a class seal, had parties, and an Ugly Man Contest.

Having completed one year here we are proud to say that we are members of NCC's largest class—the Class of 1968.

SENIORS—CLASS OF 1965

June 11, 1965

... This afternoon while I was cleaning out my closet what do you suppose I found in one corner at the bottom of a pile of books and papers? My good old freshman beanie, dried egg and all! That faded piece of cloth ... a little like the idealism that's faded since I was a freshman. I guess I entered college with a great, wonderful dream shining there before me just beyond my reach. The vision's a little dimmer now; but the landscape all around appears in much more distinct detail, and I see the horizon more clearly beyond the dream. ... It was a good dream.

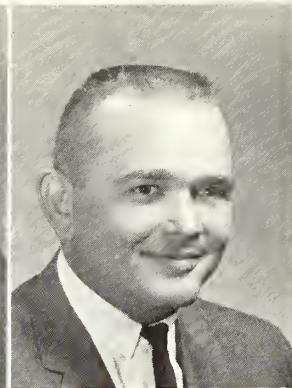

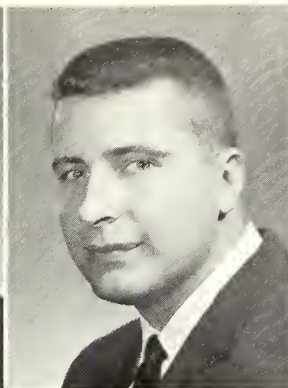

I packed my diploma and tassel and the commencement program away in my dresser. Just think, the hundredth graduating class! I entered as a member of the first class of the second century. I remember we got in on the Centennial Pageant and the last Convocation on Purpose of the Centennial year.

A lot has happened since then. I changed ... and so did the school. The Rock made its appearance our junior year, and it's been changing color ever since. I think there's a moral here somewhere.

I'm sure glad we chose red ski jackets for our senior distinction. Mine showed up clearly last year in the snow bank. Brrrrr! Our senior retreat was snowless, and I didn't mind a bit. I'm glad we got the chance to have a last fling at discussion and fun before we graduated. Perhaps I can keep some of the ideas we discussed with me for a few years ...

The book comes to a close; the school year to an end. For some an era has reached its duration; for all a phase of life has gone, never to return. Some have reached their destinations; all have set their goals. Some have become enlightened; all have learned.

North Central College again pauses its long journey. For when you, the students of North Central College, separate and diverge in all directions there is no purpose for its existence. Thus we see it as it stands. A lonely edifice, a hollow shell with gawking windows and haunting empty halls waiting for its life and vitality to return.
